

James O. Curwood	Flower of the North By James Oliver Curwood (1878-1927) Flower of the North finds Philip Whittmore on an adventure which takes him up the Churchill River of northern Canada to a land which he thought he knew. However, tucked in among the rocks and hills lies an unfamiliar outpost which he's been told is called Fort o' God whose inhabitants and history are shrouded in mystery. It is Jeanne D'Arcambal and her protector Pierre who have told him of this place, but there is so much which they haven't told him, including who they really are, where they come from, and their clouded past. (Summary by Roger Melin) Total running time: 08:25:08; read by Roger Melin. In addition to the reader, this audio book was produced by Laura Caldwell (dedicated proof-listener, meta-coordinator, & cataloging). This recording is in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. For more information or to volunteer, visit librivox.org. Cover image taken from the edition published by Grosset & Dunlap (1912). Copyright expired in US, Canada, EU, and all countries with author's life +70 yrs laws. Cover design by Janette Brown. This design is in the public domain.	Flower of the North James O. Curwood
------------------	---	---